

Unite the Union Media Release

Mrs Ann Reynolds Ports Director for DOI is in the process of unfairly dismissing the Airport Security section as a whole under the guise of Redundancy.

Redundancy occurs when a service or post is no longer needed.

However because this group of staff could not accept losing £15,000 each per annum to make a saving of £250,000 she identified as only being applicable to the Aviation Security section and not to her or the management structure to share across the airport.

She intends to keep the Aviation Security as by legal CAA requirement but she wants to be a contract manager for any successful security firm that responds to her tender.

You as the travelling public are being left protected by an inferior replacement service.

The CEO Mr Nick Black for the DOI along with the Minister Mr Ray Harmer are complicit in this by their silence and inaction, to stop the madness that has taken over in the department.

The PSC as the overriding commission is risking dispute from the two recognised trade unions Unite and Prospect.
